Nearly $100K in funding restored for Head Start

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

STANFORD — Lincoln County's Head Start and Early Head Start programs are getting nearly $100,000 in funding restored after a year operating on a budget reduced by the 2013 federal budget sequestration.

The restored funding will allow the programs to reinstate a classroom and staffing levels that were cut last year, Head Start coordinator Christine Killen said.

The 2013 federal budget cuts known as sequestration wound up cutting $75,041 from Lincoln County Head Start and $24,222 from Lincoln County Early Head Start, Killen said.

In order to absorb those cuts, administrators eliminated a teacher and teaching assistant position from Head Start, reducing the program's capacity by 20 children. They also cut back a full-time position to part-time in Early Head Start, Killen said.

The National Head Start Association estimated that nationwide, around 57,000 children lost access to early education from Head Start because of the cuts.

But earlier this year, congress passed the federal omnibus appropriations bill, which included restoration of the Head Start funding lost in 2013, along with some increases, according to NHSA.

Killen said Head Start programs are required to reinstate the same services they were providing prior to sequestration with the restored funds. In the next school year, Lincoln County's Head Start and Early Head Start programs will once again be serving STANFORD — Kentucky First Lady Jane Beshear visited Lincoln County March 20 to speak with Lincoln Adult Education class.

Beshear joined a class of about 10 as they were learning about Martin Luther King Jr. and the impact of his "I Have a Dream" speech. The first lady spoke at the end of the class, encouraging the students to take inspiration from King and make a difference in their communities and families.

While not everyone can have as big an impact as King, Beshear told students they can still be part of something bigger.

"If every one of (you) do some little thing in your community or for your family, then you take all those together and it makes a huge difference," she said.

Beshear commended the students for taking personal

Lincoln biz license fee proposed

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

STANFORD — Lincoln County businesses would pay an annual fee for licenses to operate under a proposal from Occupational Tax Administrator Amy Thompson.

Thompson has proposed an annual fee of $15, $20 or $25 for each business that files an application with the occupational-tax office.

With about 2,100 currently active businesses on file, that could generate $31,500-$52,500 annually for Lincoln County government.

Thompson said she would like to use part of that revenue to pay for new accounting software for the occupational-tax office. The new software, FiscalSoft, would allow for better tracking of businesses and deeper analysis of financial data, she said.

Sex offender approached juvenile, sheriff says

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

CRAB ORCHARD — A Lincoln County man who is a registered sex offender has been arrested after he allegedly illegally approached a juvenile male.

Ernest Allen Jackson, 23, of 334 Stanford St. in Crab Orchard, has been charged with violating his probation and could face further charges as an investigation into his actions continue, Lincoln Sheriff Curt Folger said.

Jackson allegedly approached a "young male" in a park Friday morning, Folger said. The Lincoln County Sheriff's Office investigated and with the help of Constable Jesse Harris and Crab Orchard Police Chief Jimmy Gipson, Jackson was arrested at his home later that day, Folger said.

A requirement of Jackson's probation is that he does not visit any locations, such as parks, where children may be present, Folger said.

Jackson was being held without bond in the Lincoln County Regional Jail on one count of a probation violation as of Tuesday.

Jackson was placed on the state sex offender registry after being convicted of first-degree sexual abuse, a Class D felony. The state registry shows Jackson as compliant with the law.

Mayor says he will veto a second time

By Ben Kleppinger

STANFORD — Four city council members are trying again to reduce the salary for the next mayor of Stanford, but the current mayor says he will veto their effort as he already did once.

Councilman Eddie Carter presented a newly drafted ordinance at a special meeting March 20 that, if passed into law, would set the salary for the next mayor of Stanford at $21,000.

The first reading of the ordinance passed 4-1, with Carter and council members Amy Hazlett, Tom Moser and Bobby Wilkinson casting "yes" votes. Councilman Scottie Ernst cast the lone "no" vote. Councilman Mike Southerland — who has opposed previous efforts to lower the salary — was absent.

"We're just trying to compromise. It's nothing personal here," Carter said following the meeting. "We think it needs to be lowered. (Mayor Bill Miracle) said it needed to be lowered himself."

In early discussions about setting the salary, Miracle had said setting the salary between $22,500 and $25,000 would be appropriate. More recently, he has said he thinks the salary might be appropriate where it is currently — $30,000 annually.

The four council members in favor of lowering the salary previously voted for an ordinance that would

Highland United Methodist Church news

Even though some of our regular attendees were absent on Sunday, March 23, there was a nice group in attendance at the Highland United Methodist Church.

Kim and Doug May were our anniversary celebrants.

Mike McKenzie requested prayer for his aunt Sheryl Eakins. The Kathy Maybrier Carrier and the Glenna Mofield families were added to the prayer requests.

There were reports given concerning Jeff Young and Bob Gourley who were already on the prayer list.

Rev. Scillee announced that ten persons from the church attended the pre-conference informational meeting at the Lexington Centenary United Methodist Church. Those attending were Rev. Scillee, Dawn and Scot Cheetham, Karen Davis, Chaz and Rebecca Garcia, Frankie and Buddy Young, and Ron and Ellen Hunkins.

On Saturday, April 5, at 8:30 a.m. there will be a men's breakfast, and following the breakfast there will be a cemetery committee meeting. The women on the committee are invited to attend the breakfast, also.

We were glad to have Karen Davis' daughter, Lindsay, Lindsay's husband, Chris, and their son, Ethan, worship with us.

Sundays scripture reading was Luke 10:29-37. The topic was, "Sometimes It's Uphill." Part of our journey between here and our destination will be up hill. To reach our goal will require watchful prayer, additional faith and knowing that by His grace you can be successful.

The women recited their scripture from Matthew 25:44-45.

Next Sunday the children will have their second turn at reciting another verse. This will be Matthew 5:15.

The choir had a good practice after worship. Mid week practices are planned for 6:30 p.m. on Wednesdays.

All are welcome to study and worship the Lord at the Highland United Methodist Church at 10 and 11 a.m. each Sunday.

Sheriff's settlement audit released

State Auditor Adam Edelen released the audit of the sheriff's settlement – 2012 taxes for Lincoln County Sheriff Curt Folger. State law requires the auditor to annually audit the accounts of each county sheriff. In compliance with this law, the auditor issues two sheriff's reports each year: one reporting on the audit of the sheriff's tax account and the other reporting on the audit of the fee account used to operate the office.

Recent changes in auditing standards require the auditor's letter to communicate whether the sheriff's settlement presents fairly the taxes charged, credited and paid of the Lincoln County Sheriff in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States. The sheriff's settlement is prepared on the regulatory basis, which is described in the auditor's opinion letter.

Regulatory basis reporting for the sheriff's settlement is an acceptable reporting methodology, and this reporting methodology is followed for all 120 sheriff settlements in Kentucky.

The audit found that the sheriff's financial statement fairly presents the taxes charged, credited and paid, for the period, April 17, 2012 through April 15, 2013 in conformity with the modified cash basis of accounting.

The auditor noted no instances of noncompliance. The auditor also noted no matters involving internal control over financial reporting and its operation that were considered to be material weaknesses.

The sheriff's responsibilities include collecting property taxes, providing law enforcement and performing services for the county fiscal court and courts of justice. The sheriff's office is funded through statutory commissions and fees collected in conjunction with these duties.

The audit report can be found on the auditor's website.

Well! Maybe our weather will straighten out and won't have to be a topic for discussion, until it gets too hot!

We thank those people for helping St. Sylvester's crew in picking up Cash for Trash program. They are Jerry Zwahlen, Mike and Diane Link, Timothy Sneed, Joe and Dorothy Morhinnars, Raymond Schuler and myself. I cannot help but wonder why so many people don't care what the roadsides look like, with all the trash that is thrown out. We gathered 53 bags in a three and a half mile of road. Please take your trash home!

To the family of Joan Jufer who passed away recently, we think of your sorrow and know God has her in his care. She lived her life on Chestnut Ridge and she and Bob moved back there to live their life together. She worked many years at the Lincoln County High School.

Our prayers and condolences go out to the Jean and Ray Cromer family in the death of Bessie Cromer, Ray's mother, who passed away last week. May she be at peace in God's care and your memories of her.

Immanuel Luther Community Church committee wants to thank everyone who helped, Saturday, picking up cash for trash along Ky. Hwy. 501 in Kings Mountain. It's a shame 91 bags were picked up, it took nine people four hours to pick up all the garbage thrown own and that road was picked up just last year. The people helping were Eileen and Timothy Sneed, Jerry and Susanna Zwahlen, Melvin Denny, Mike Link, Eunice and Dorothea Schlappi and Pauline Bradshaw.

It was reported a reunion on a class of people from Highland Grade School, that were together quite some years ago met Saturday night at Highland. They are all in their 50's now and looking back together and remembering was a joyous occasion. Lots has happened in those years that were talked about. It's good to be able to visit and sad to hear of all the ones who have passed on.

We wish to remember Judy and Jr. Oaks in the passing of her mother, Ruth Ballard. May you know our thoughts are with you.

It was good to have a visit with my daughter, Ellen and her family from Amelia, Ohio, over the weekend. She came down to attend the grade school class reunion at Highland Grade School.

Lent is half over and Easter will be here before we know it. I haven't seen any gardens planted yet, but a few have been plowed. Gardening will be late this year, until it warms up enough to plant the seeds without freezing them.

If at first you don't succeed, try again. Good luck and God bless.

SALARY

have set the salary at $18,000, but Miracle vetoed that ordinance. In order to override the veto, the council needs five votes, which means one of the two council members opposed — Ernst and Southerland — would have to switch sides.

Ernst said he doesn't see that happening. " $30,000 is what I feel like it should be. It shouldn't be any less," Ernst said. "The mayor has too much responsibility. And I feel like if we go less than $30,000, we're going backwards instead of forwards." Asked about the new ordinance following the special called meeting, Miracle said he does expect it to pass a second reading, and he also expects to veto it.

"Standing here right now, yes. I plan to veto it," he said. "I'll just go ahead and say it. I might as well, because that's what I intend to do." State law requires legislative bodies such as Stanford City Council to set the salary for a new mayoral term by the first Monday in May of the election year — May 5 this year. If no new salary is passed into law, the current salary will rollover to the new four-year term, a Kentucky League of Cities attorney has confirmed.

Carter said the mayor position is "a part-time job" and isn't worth $30,000 annually. The fact that many Stanford mayors have held other jobs while working as mayor is proof the compensation is too high, he said.

"If we want to start looking at a full-time mayor and make him be at city hall 8-5, whatever, full-time, we may need to look at a city-manager-type government," Carter said. "And we may need to look at that. ... But it's not a full-time position because you can't tell the mayor to be there 8-5."

As a member of the city council, Carter previously voted in favor of raising the salary to its current level — a fact Miracle cited in the reasons for his veto of the first salary ordinance.

Carter said after the special meeting that he now thinks raising the salary was the wrong move.

"I'll admit to the world I made a mistake," he said. "... I made a mistake in voting for the $30,000."

Miracle said when he considers the responsibilities of mayoral position — including oversight of an approximately $2.5 million budget, supervision of about 14 employees and making sure the city is maintaining its streets and buildings — the proposed salary of $21,000 is too low.

"There's more responsibility to it than that," he said. "...it just takes a lot of time, a lot of effort to do it."

Carter, who has filed to run for mayor in this year's election, said lowering the salary won't have an impact on the quality of candidates for mayor.

Carter said he and former Lincoln County Judge-Executive R.W. "Buckwheat" Gilbert, who has also filed to run for mayor, are both fine with the lower salary.

But Miracle said while there may be candidates this year for whom salary may not be an issue, that won't always be true.

"What about four years from now, when these people aren't in the run, but you've got a 30- or 35-year-old person with lots of energy, lots of new ideas wanting to run?" he said. "They're looking at, 'OK, do I want to do this for $18,000 vs. $30,000? You know, that may have an effect on their decision.'"

The newly proposed ordinance would also affect the mayor's health insurance benefit, which currently costs the city a little more than $6,000 annually. The ordinance would provide an optional $4,000 health insurance allowance for the mayor instead of the current setup, where the mayor can sign up for the same health insurance available to all full-time city employees.

Ernst said he disagrees with the proposed health insurance cut.

"I feel like the $4,000 for the health insurance is not adequate," he said. "It's going to cost more than $4,000 for a year's health insurance."

In all, the new ordinance would potentially save around $11,000 annually compared to current costs — $9,000 from salary reduction and about $2,000 from cuts to health insurance cost.

Carter disputed the idea that savings from the health insurance reduction could be estimated because the council could still vote to increase that allowance later or the mayor could opt not to use it at all. But he said whatever savings are realized from a reduction in the mayor's salary and benefits could be used toward building repairs, to pay off debt or to build up the city's contingency fund.

"For our size city, we ought to have a contingency fund ... of about $250,000 to $300,000," he said. "We should have that."

Miracle has noted the city is not currently losing money — the most recent preliminary audit shows the city bringing in more money than it's spending and paying down its debts.

Carter acknowledged the audit shows the city is about "$80,000 ahead," but said "we've still got a lot of expense out here."

"We're doing better, but we're not out of the woods," Carter said.

Unless a special meeting is called, the second reading of the new ordinance couldn't happen until the next regular city council meeting, scheduled for 6:30 p.m. April 3.

183 3- and 4-year-olds and 32 infants and toddlers, she said.

The Lincoln County programs will also be applying for more funding through a cost of living increase, Killen said. "We use every penny we can get," she said. Killen said as things stand now, it doesn't appear sequestration will be affecting Head Start any more going forward. But, she noted, nothing is totally guaranteed.

"This is a government grant and they can always take it away again," she said. "With the feds, you never know what they'll do from one day to the next." Killen said Lincoln County is currently operating under a five-year grant, which means funding will be more likely to stay in place for at least that long.

Even with the restoration, Lincoln County could use a lot more funding than it will have, Killen said.

"We're serving about 30 or 40 percent of the 3- and 4-year-olds," she said. "There's a much greater need (than we can provide for)."

Killen said there's an even greater need at the Early Head Start level, where the number of infants and toddlers educated by Lincoln County's program amounts to "a drop in the bucket" compared to the total number who could use it.

"We maintain a waiting list all the time," she said.

LICENSE FEE

From A1
The current software used in the office is about eight years old and no longer supported by the company that made it. Thompson said the software doesn't allow her to track changes over time and she has many issues trying to make it work. The FiscalSoft software, which is used by 44 other counties in the state, would cost the county $4,000 annually, Thompson said. "A lot of times, departments come up with a want or a need but no way to pay for it," she said. "This is a way to pay for the needs of the occupational-tax office as well as generating a little additional revenue for the county."

Lincoln County is different from many Kentucky counties because it doesn't currently charge a business-license fee. Thompson said every county around Lincoln that has an occupational tax office — Casey County is the only one that doesn't — also charges a business-license fee.

Statewide, cities and counties charge anywhere from $10 to $150 annually for business-license fees, Thompson said. The average business-license fee in Kentucky is $50, she added.

Thompson said paying an annual business-license fee is commonplace enough that she deals on a regular basis with people who come into her office expecting to pay a fee.

Thompson said she initially suggested a $15 license fee to magistrates late last year. She brought her proposal back before the county fiscal court Tuesday, asking the court to consider implementing the fee for the coming fiscal year.

Because there had been some talk of implementing a larger fee of $20 or even $25, she included data on possible revenue for those amounts as well, she said.

Lincoln County collects a net profit tax from businesses that report operating at a profit. Thompson said only 40 percent of Lincoln County businesses reported a profit for the most recent year, meaning 60 percent of businesses paid nothing.

Adding a business license fee would ensure the county brings in revenue regardless of whether businesses turn a profit, Thompson said.

Businesses operating inside a city would have to pay business-license fees to the county and the city, Thompson said.

Stanford currently charges $50 for its annual business-license fee. Crab Orchard charges $35; Hustonville charges $25.

Magistrates took no action on a business-license fee Tuesday but voted to give Thompson authority to move forward with plans for the new accounting software. Judge-

Executive Jim Adams said Thompson could return for future fiscal-court meetings to update magistrates on her progress.

In other business, magistrates approved a recommendation for road improvements using rural secondary road funding.

$293,941 in flex funds from the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet are planned to be used for the following projects:

- Resurfacing about 3.7 miles of Ky. 328, from milepost 1.47 to the intersection with Ike Singleton Road; and

- Resurfacing about 3.2 miles of Ky. 1778, from its intersection with Ky. 698 to the South Fork Bridge.

An encouraging word A way to something better

By Howard Coop

After a beautiful sunny day in mid-winter that melted the ice and snow on my driveway, the next morning was dark and gloomy. Clouds had moved in during the night, and a cold rain was falling. That was not what I had hoped for the day. But it was a reality I had to accept it; I could not change it.

As I looked out the window at the winter morning dreariness while wishing for something better, an intriguing thought came into my mind: Why not?

After driving for days through snow and ice on salt-covered roads, my car was covered with dirt and salt; it needed washing. So, I raised the garage door and backed the car out onto the driveway to allow the dreary winter rain to give me a free car wash. In an hour or two, the rain ceased, the clouds began to part a little, and the day became just a bit brighter. When I looked out the window, my car looked much better; most of the dirt and salt was gone. Then, I thought: After all, gloominess is not all bad. Good can come from it.

Life gives us a mix of many things. Not all of them are what we expect or want. While there are many pleasant experiences, some of the things life gives us are not pleasant. At first, they may appear to be devastating, but not all is bad. When one of those experiences occur, Nichole Chase said, “You make the best out of it, you can. Nothing is ever as good or as bad as you think it will be. It’s what you make of it.” In almost every situation, something good can be made out of it. Ziad K. Abduelnour said, “To be the best you must be able to handle the worst.”

We determine what will come from life’s experiences. Through attitude and action, we can allow unpleasant experiences to abuse us, or we can use them as a way to something better.

Stanford Christian Church

With few exceptions, Stanford is truly embedded in "wildcat country". Many UK fan's second favorite team is U of L's opponent. Some wear sweatshirts which say, "friends don't let friends attend the U of L." Have you ever wondered what would happen if Christians ever approached this same intense, loyal commitment to the church? Marvelous miracles would be manifested for the Master! Loyal support is a good thing for any sports fan; but it is a far better and more important value for our Lord. We invite you to show your loyalty to the Lord by worshiping with us this Sunday at the Stanford Christian Church, 200 East Main Street (next to the courthouse), at 10:50 a.m.

FEATURES FROM THE BIBLE

TRUTH IN SCRIPTURE

LAUGHING AT GOD
Genesis 17 and 18

Laughing at God? Some do. Both Sarah and Abraham did it. They did not see how God could fulfill His promise that in their old age they would have many descendants. Abraham even asked if his son by Sarah's handmaiden, Hagar, could live under God's blessing.

Sarah's laughter came when three visitors came to Mamre to visit with Abraham and Sarah. A warm welcome was extended to the visitors and a fine meal was prepared for them. One of the visitors was the Lord. He was the spokesman and told Abraham that the next year he would visit again and that by that time Sarah would have a son. Sarah heard this conversation and laughed. Her thoughts were that she and Abraham were both too old for this to happen.

The Lord heard Sarah laughing and questioned her about it. She tried to deny that she had laughed, but the Lord knew that she had.

The Lord asked Abraham, "Is there anything too hard for the Lord?"

He then stated that he would return at the appointed time next year and Sarah would have a son.

News from Pleasant View Baptist Church

By Scena Ann Petrey

Last Saturday, March 22 welcomed Operation Inasmuch once again. Each Sunday school class chose a project they wanted to work on, and a great deal of work was accomplished. There will be another Saturday blitz again this fall.

The Annie Armstrong Easter offering will be received sometime in April. This offering collected by the Baptists goes to the furtherance of God's work and word within the United States.

Bro. Kyle's message on Sunday, March 23 was entitled "Prayers to the Lamb" and was taken from Rev. 5. "Jesus is going to win" is the overall theme of this book that was written by John while exiled on the island of Patmos. Neither sin, death, Satan, nor rulers will win; only Jesus will be triumphant over everything.

There are three reasons why the worth of Jesus just keeps getting better. The first reason is because of who He is. In Rev. 5 the question arose of who was worthy of opening the seven seals. Only Jesus was worthy. He took on poverty so we could become rich; He became weak so we could become strong through Him.

The second reason is because of where He is. He is sitting at the right hand of God; He reigns with God on high. Jesus is not in the tomb; He is our conquering King. Our secure position is in Him. Nothing can separate us from God once we believe.

The third reason is because of what He does. In vs. 8-10, Revelation tells us that He hears and answers our prayers. He brings people together and uses us to bring people together. He took our place on the cross!

Reta Hampton will meet with all interested women on Tuesdays (2nd, 4th and 5th) in the fellowship hall from 6-8:30 p.m. Bring your sewing machine and cotton fabric (bright colors) for the sewing/quilter's group.

The Kentucky Missionary Commissioning Service will be Friday, April 4 at the Central Baptist Church in Winchester. The Kentucky Missionary of the year will be recognized. Contact Annette Story for more information.

Save your Campbell's soup labels and General Mills box tops for the WMU-Christ Followers. They will use these to support the Oneida Baptist Institute. Contact Annette Story for more information.

Pleasant View will have a team for the Relay for Life. A $10 registration fee may be paid to Pam Smith or you may register on line at <http://www.relayforlife.org/>. Select a team and then join. Contact Pam Smith for more information.

Another date to save is April 12, 2014. The Broughtontown Community Center will host a fund-raiser for cancer patients. All proceeds will be placed in the Eddie Hopkins Foundation Fund. Gospel singing, a meal for a nominal price, and an auction will be features for the night. The public is invited to attend; there is no charge, but donations are appreciated. Contact Loren Simpson for more information.

Plans are under way for the Great Awakening Revival for the entire county; this is coming up April 27-May 2. This revival will be at the Kings Mountain Community Center.

Crossings Kid's Camp will be held July 20-23 for students finishing second through sixth grade. The cost is $200. Contact Stacy Story for more details.

Thought for the week: "All your dreams come true, if you have the courage to pursue them." (Walt Disney)

News from Fairview Baptist Church

By Shelby Lakes

On Sunday, Bro. Jeremy Pope delivered the message due to Bro. Johnny Baker being in Haiti with the missionary team. He asked for prayers for the team, saying they are having crusades, preaching in churches, and visiting an orphanage.

Paul Rice provided special music.

Bro. Jeremy's message focused on Romans 1 and other passages. He said Paul announced he was not ashamed of the gospel and asked if we can say the same about ourselves. Bro. Jeremy said Jesus met Paul (then Saul) on the road to Damascus and Paul asked Jesus two questions: "Who are you Lord?" and "What would you have me to do?" Paul said, "I am a debtor..." "I am ready to preach the gospel..." and "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ."

We have a casual Christian attitude, Bro. Jeremy said, but it is important to be the Christian God wants us to be. He wants us to also be able to say the "I am."

Thank God for those that went before us, Bro. Jeremy said, so we can have what we have today. God wants to use you in a big way. Bro.

Jeremy said. How many have gone to friends and family with the gospel, he asked? We have to stop being inflexible.

Many say they would die for Christ, but how many will live for him? (End of sermon summary)

Celebrating birthdays are Eddie May, Dorothy Mullins, Riley Parker, Raygan Oaks, Deva Harris, Katie Silverthorn, Jim Wilder, Amber Cole and Sammy Wood. Celebrating anniversaries were David and Nancy Rollins, Greg and Yolanda Smith, Dewayne and Sarah Riddle, and James and Sandra Cheek.

Transportation Cabinet to remove signs

Campaign signs and other signs placed on state right of way that restrict sight distance or interfere with mowing operations will be removed by Kentucky Transportation (KYTC) crews in the coming weeks.

Signs encroaching on state right of way pose a potential hazard to motorists and also impede mowing crews and other maintenance operations. The KYTC is about to begin the spring mowing cycle.

Kentucky law and KYTC policy prohibit placement of any signs – for political candidates, yard sale or any other type of advertising – on state right of way. The prohibition includes, signs attached to utility poles or fences on the right of way.

Signs will be moved to the state highway garage in each county of KYTC District 8 and kept for two weeks. Unclaimed signs will be discarded.

Great Awakening Revival set for April 27-May 2

The Lincoln County Baptist Association (LCBA), in cooperation with other area churches, is planning a six-day revival in Lincoln County, April 27-May 2. The revival, titled the Lincoln County Great Awakening, will be held at the Kings Mountain Community Center, 11650 Old Somerset Road, Waynesburg. The LCBA has selected Rev. Dr. Craig Hamlin, a very capable evangelist from the Asheville, N.C., area, to be the evangelical speaker each of the six nights. Rev. Hamlin will be accompanied by Joe Perry, Worship Leader, as well as musicians, and featuring Praise and Worship singers from throughout the area. The chairman of the event is Rev. Johnny Thompson, pastor of Willow Grove Baptist Church, Danville. “We want everyone to get excited and stay excited throughout the week and afterward,” said pastor Thompson. The Great Awakening is being supported by other church denominations throughout Lincoln County. “We want the entire Christian community to participate,” he added. The event is designed to refresh pastors and church members as much as it is intended for those who do not presently identify with Christianity. There is no cost to participate in the Revival. Free parking is available at the site of the former Kings Mountain High School. Some area churches will be organizing bus transportation to enable wider participation in the event. Special events are planned in advance, as well, such as A Believer’s Rally, to be held Sunday, April 6 from 6 to 8 p.m. at Willow Grove Baptist Church in Boyle County. The Believer’s Rally will be led by Rev. Jim Coldiron, who is a member of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association. Also, anyone interested in participating in the revival as a Christian counselor is required to attend each of two evenings of counselor training, April 7 and 8, 6 to 8 p.m., at Willow Grove Baptist Church, 4306 Stanford Road, Danville. Also, a special Day of Prayer is planned by the Lincoln County Ministerial Association in cooperation with the LCBA and other churches. The Day of Prayer will be held April 10 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Cane Ridge Meeting House and Museum, in Bourbon County. Presenters during the Day of Prayer will describe what happened on the site more than two hundred years ago when the 1801 Kentucky Great Awakening occurred in Cane Ridge. The Great Awakening of 1801 spread throughout the Blue Grass region and beyond, initiating the Second Great Awakening in America. Church bus transportation, from Lincoln County to Cain Ridge, will be available at 8 a.m., April 10, leaving from the parking lot of the Lincoln County Baptist Association, 4160 U.S. Hwy. 27 South, Stanford. News from Stanford Nazarene Church

By Buford Edwards II
The mission at Stanford Church of the Nazarene is to share the gospel message of Jesus Christ to all the world and to be a place of healing and hope to all in need. Come as you are, Jesus will meet you there. Sunday morning, we celebrated the Lord’s Day with song and word as we continued the Ashes to Fire series and the sermon brought by Bro. Buford from John 4 as we traveled with Jesus through Samaria. On Sunday night, we gathered back for more singing and testimonies and the Word from Bro. Buford continuing the New Testament letters series in Thessalonians. Join us Wednesday nights at 7 p.m. for our “Book Club.” The “Book Club” is engaging the Ashes to Fire series. This is an awesome series that leads us through Lent, Easter and Pentecost. You don’t want to miss it. The youth have powerful services as well as classes for our children. It’s a busy place on Wednesday, come check it out. The church is working hard on year two of the “Five Year Plan.” We are actively raising funds to purchase a church van and pay off the debt on the fellowship hall. If you would like to donate to the cause, you can drop off a donation at any service or even mail in a donation. Just remember to write “Five Year Plan,” somewhere (memo field of check or envelope of cash) in order for it to be properly designated.

The Jail Ministry meets every Sunday at 2:30 p.m. and the Nursing Home Ministry the first Tuesday of each month at 2 p.m. For more information, or to learn how to get involved, contact the church and leave a message. We are currently taking bids for the 2014 mowing season. This includes the church and fellowship hall. If you are interested in placing a bid, contact Bro. Buford. The Men’s Group and Youth Group have entered into a joint venture to complete service projects in the community. If you are in need of any work done around your home that you are unable to complete, or know of any folks in need, contact Bro. Robert Bowen or Bro. Dennis Hasty. Our Spring Revival is March 30-April 2. Bro. Hershel Lawhorn will be joining us. Sunday’s kick off service is at 6 p.m. and Monday-Wednesday services will be at 7 p.m. The Crossroads Quartet will be joining us on Sunday, May 4 at 6 p.m. for a Gospel Singing Night. There is no admission fee but we will be receiving a love offering to help cover their traveling expenses. The ladies meet the first Tuesday of every month at 6 p.m. in the fellowship hall. Their next regular meeting will be Tuesday, April 1. The Men’s Group meets every other month on the second Monday of the month. However, our next meeting will be Saturday, May 17 at noon. We will be meeting for a target shoot and lunch on the farm. Come out and join us. The church has an active food assistance program. If you know of anyone or have a need yourself, leave a message at the church. Service times: We have an amazing variety of blended services. Each week we have “Schoolin” (Sunday school) beginning at 10 a.m., with worship services on Sunday at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Additionally, our “Book Club,” youth, and children all meet together on Wednesday nights at 7 p.m. The “Book Club” and children always meet at the church and the youth alternate between the church and fellowship hall each week. For more information about our youth group and children’s programs, email the directors by logging on to our website at www.stanfordchurchofthenazarene.com If you would like more information about our church and events, contact Pastor Buford Edwards at (606) 365-1260 or visit us on the web. ‘Deep breath’ needed in debate over proposed ‘religious freedom’ laws

In recent months, legislators in more than a dozen states — from Hawaii to Georgia — have attempted to enact laws they describe as necessary to protect religious freedom.

Some are broad “religious freedom restoration acts” very similar to laws already on the books in many states. Others are amendments to existing laws aimed at allowing businesses to deny wedding services to gay couples on religious grounds.

All are driven by the rapid growth of public support for same-sex marriage and gay rights, reflected most powerfully in a series of recent court decisions favoring challenges to bans on same-sex marriage in even the reddest of states.

None are expected to pass any time soon, due in large measure to fallout from the bitter debate over Arizona’s proposed law vetoed earlier this month by Governor Jan Brewer.

In calmer times, many of these bills might have faced little or no opposition. After all, the original Religious Freedom Restoration Act passed Congress almost unanimously and was signed into law by President Bill Clinton in 1993.

What’s changed, of course, is the ascendancy of gay rights and same-sex marriage. Those once in the majority on the gay rights issue — successfully passing laws and state constitutional amendments banning gay marriage — are increasingly in the minority.

In this new environment, many religious conservatives are rushing to put in place legal mechanisms for seeking exemption from laws that prohibit discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation.

Unfortunately, intemperate voices on both sides are making it difficult to have a civil discussion about if and when to accommodate conscientious objectors to same-sex marriage.

Far too many proponents of gay rights dismiss any and all attempts to carve out exemptions for religious people from non-discrimination laws as nothing more than bigotry disguised as “religious freedom.”

On the other side, many conservative groups characterize all opponents of religious exemptions as part of the “homosexual lobby” intent on denying religious freedom.

Same-sex marriage vs. religious freedom is fast becoming a shouting match where any concern for the common good is lost in the din of charge and counter-charge.

Before more damage is done, people on all sides should take a deep breath and acknowledge that non-discrimination and religious freedom are both core American principles. Resolving the tension between these two fundamental rights should be a balancing act, not a zero-sum game.

To some extent, of course,

INSIDE THE FIRST AMENDMENT

Charles C. Haynes
Guest columnist

same-sex marriage proponents have already (grudgingly in most cases) acknowledged the need to signal concern for religious freedom.

All states that have passed laws legalizing same-sex marriage have included language ensuring that clergy will not be forced to conduct same-sex ceremonies (politically smart, but unnecessary because this would never happen under the First Amendment).

In some states, laws or court decisions extend protections to religiously affiliated groups seeking exemption from participating in or recognizing same-sex marriages.

Thus far, however, no state explicitly grants exemptions to wedding businesses that, on grounds of religious conscience, object to providing services for same-sex weddings.

Is there any room for accommodating conscientious objectors who would be required to participate actively in the ceremony or preparing for the ceremony such as photographers or marriage counselors? Can the law draw a distinction between those who want to discriminate against LGBT people (which should not be allowed) and those who object to participating in a ceremony that offends their faith?

However we ultimately answer these and related questions about religious claims of conscience and same-sex marriage, these issues require getting beyond the name-calling and engaging in civil, respectful dialogue.

It’s easy to understand why LGBT people may not be enthusiastic about finding ways to accommodate those who have opposed (and continue to oppose in many cases) laws protecting LGBT people against discrimination.

But to paraphrase religious-freedom advocate Roger Williams (in his 17th century argument with Puritan minister John Cotton), when you are at the helm — after being so long in the hatches — don’t forget what it was like to be in the hatches.

Claims of conscience don’t always — and shouldn’t always — prevail. But a society that takes freedom seriously must seek ways to protect liberty of conscience whenever possible.

After all, the right we guard for others today may be the right we need for ourselves tomorrow.

Budget biggest of many projects as legislative session draws to a close

As we get down to the final 10 or so legislative days, our members and staff are working many hours reviewing the House budget. The budget is a careful balance between meeting the needs of our citizens with the funding mechanisms we have. We have to remain mindful of the state’s debt ratio and not spend money that will fall on the backs of future generations to pay. It’s a daunting task that takes many hours to complete, and one that we take very seriously.

Chris Girdler
State Senator

In addition to working on the state’s budget, we passed a number of pieces of legislation out of committee and off the Senate floor.

One of those bills was SB 221, which addresses issues relating to the office of the Attorney General. (AG).

Under 221, if the AG refuses to defend a statute or constitutional provision, or if he was found to be defending in an inadequate manner, either the Senate President or Speaker of the House would be allowed to intervene. Recently, the AG refused to intervene in a federal court decision to allow same-sex marriage in Kentucky — despite the fact that Kentuckians overwhelmingly voted down this issue at the polls in 2004. The citizens voted, and the AG had the responsibility to uphold their decision. Should an AG do this in the future, this bill would allow the state to still have someone who could defend the decisions of Kentucky voters.

This bill also clarifies an existing statutory requirement that when the AG obtains a judgment on behalf of the Commonwealth, he must deposit these funds (minus costs of litigation and required restitution) into the general fund surplus account to be appropriated by the legislature. This, too, came to the forefront when the AG received a settlement of more than $30 million in funds but did not conform to the statutory provision requiring that money to go through the general fund to be distributed.

Simply put, our elected officials must fulfill the job they are elected to do. We cannot sit back and allow them to circumvent their duties and responsibilities. This legislation will help us hold the AG responsible for performing their duties as they were elected to do.

Also this week, the Senate passed a bill that sets forth a plan for school districts that missed an unusual number of days this year due to inclement weather. Under the bill, a school system would be required to do everything they can to get in the 1,062 instructional hours required per school year. Once they have exhausted all options — which may include longer school days or having class on days previously scheduled as off days — the school system may apply to the state education commissioner for a waiver of the remainder of its snow days. The House voted to reject SB 211 when it was returned to its chamber. The measure now goes to a conference committee for negotiation.

During the discussion of SB 211, I brought up an issue of concern to me. This was not the first winter which we have had harsh weather conditions, as I stated on floor. Throughout the year, they take a number of days off for union-mandated meetings, professional development days, multiple teacher planning days, fall breaks and spring breaks. My mother is a retired public school teacher, and I have great respect for the profession and our public schools in general. However, I am concerned as to whether we are putting our students first. It’s time to take a look at the big picture and make sure that we are making students our priority. Perhaps we should also look at taking fewer days off during the year, and starting school after Labor Day. I will continue to look at ways to put our students first, as they are the future of our Commonwealth.

The House voted to reject SB 211 when it was returned to its chamber. The measure now goes to a conference committee for negotiation.

The Senate also passed SB 195, which I co-sponsored. This bill would cut the number of working days during regular legislative sessions by a third. Currently, we meet for 60 days in even-year budget sessions and 30 days in odd-year short sessions. The bill would change budget-year sessions to 45 days and short sessions to five days, with an optional 10 available on agreement of both the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House. This measure would not only save taxpayer dollars, but it would help change the makeup of the General Assembly back to what it was meant to be — a true citizen legislature.

Finally this week, we passed SB 200, which deals with the way juvenile offenders are handled in our court system. Under this bill, community supervision and services for lower-level juvenile offenders would be expanded, leaving expensive out-of-home facilities to be used for more serious juvenile offenders. It would stop the practice, far more prevalent in Kentucky than in other states, of removing truants, runaways and other low-level “status” offenders from their homes. These and additional measures are projected to save up to $24 million over the next five years, some of which would be reinvested into programs proven to cut reoffending rates and improve public safety. I’m a firm believer in taking care of our children and providing for them the best possible future. I think this bill takes a great step forward in doing just that. I’m proud of the work my fellow Senator, Whitney Westerfield, did on this bill. Senator Westerfield has worked tirelessly on this issue. And while the legislation may not be perfect to everyone, I believe it takes a great step toward improving the lives of children.

Thank you for the opportunity to serve and for keeping in touch regarding issues of legislation. I encourage you to come to Frankfort for hearings of interest to you or to view the Senate. Baby Boomers May Avoid Knee Surgery With Modern Arthritis Treatments

Doctors say these two factors are the keys to knee arthritis treatment success and relieving pain without surgery

By Matt Edgar
America's Health Writer

Lexington - Everyone has said it at one time or another. If I had only known about "this" sooner - things would be very different today.

That's what many knee arthritis pain sufferers are saying about this technology and treatment.

"We all know that countless lives are being saved every year because of early detection and better treatment of cancer," stated one of the physicians at OsteoRelief Institute in Lexington, Kentucky. "The same holds true for treating knee arthritis pain. I believe we are having so much success at OsteoRelief Institute because of two factors: One is we are using advanced medical technology and treatments a lot of clinics do not use. And second, the word has spread to our community and so many knee arthritis sufferers are coming in sooner. And the earlier we can treat knee arthritis - the better the results. The key to avoiding knee replacement surgery is doing the correct treatments as soon as possible."

What is the "correct treatment?"
"That depends, there is no one answer when it comes to medical conditions and knee arthritis is no different. That's why, if you have knee pain, you should have it evaluated by a doctor who deals with and treats knee pain every day," stated the clinics director of services.

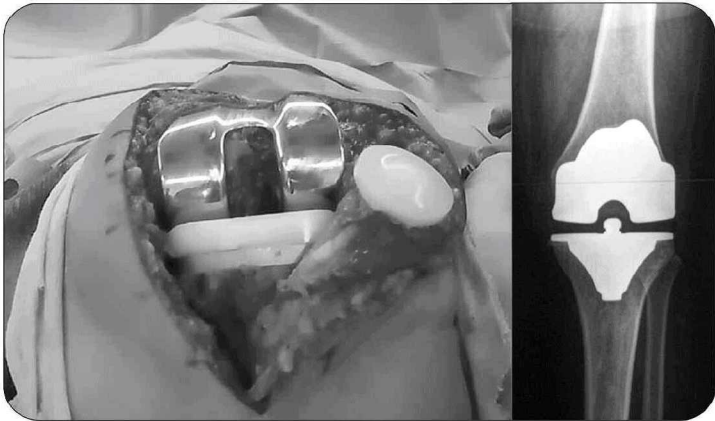

For many knee arthritis pain sufferers the right treatments is viscosupplementation. In this treatment, a preparation of Hyaluronic acid (such as Hyalgan) is injected directly into the knee joint.

Hyaluronic acid is a natural lubricant and shock absorber of your joints and is found to be decreased in arthritis sufferers. This is similar to running your car low or without oil. Obviously, the sooner you put oil back in the car - the less damage will be done. That's why some doctors feel early viscosupplementation gets the best results and is so important for avoiding surgery.

And the Doctors believe one of the most important factors for the success of viscosupplementation is making sure you are getting it into the joint space. That's why the doctors at OsteoRelief Institute use advanced imaging technology called a "C-Arm."

A C-Arm allows the doctor to see into the joint and actually watch the injection go where it is supposed to. Research shows that performing injections without digital imaging can result in missing the joint space as much as 30% of the time. If you had viscosupplementation treatments without advanced imaging and did not get good results - this may be why.

Can This Be Avoided? Total knee replacement is serious surgery requiring months of rehabilitation. Some doctors think modern treatments done early enough can keep baby boomers from going under the knife.

"If you have knee arthritis pain, viscosupplementation might be the answer you are looking for. The keys are to not wait, get a good evaluation from an expert and make sure advanced digital imaging (C-Arm) is used to make sure you have the best chance for success." was the advice of the doctors at the Osteo Relief Institute.

Free Knee Pain Screenings Offered To Help Determine If Lexington Area Residents Qualify For Popular Treatment

Lexington area knee pain sufferers have limited time to claim knee pain screening to see if all-natural knee arthritis treatment might work for them

If you qualify for this treatment, it might be one of the happiest days of your life.

That's because, for the past year and a half, hundreds of knee pain sufferers have flocked to Osteo Relief Institute located in Lexington, Kentucky. That's when their specially trained doctors added Hyalgan treatments to their already successful and comprehensive knee pain relief program.

Hyalgan is unique because - even though it is manufactured by a pharmaceutical company, it's in NOT considered a drug because it is a natural substance with an incredible story.

Why So Many Want It

You see, when you suffer with arthritis - the lubricating fluid (synovial fluid) in your knee joint dries up.

This means instead of gliding smoothly - your bones start to rub and grind against each other.

This causes a little pain in the beginning - but over time the pain steadily gets worse until it is excruciating.

Like "Joint Oil"

Hyalgan works so well because it is like "joint oil." It is a natural substance that contains one of the natural building blocks of the synovial fluid that lubricates your knee.

Scientists and researchers discovered this natural building block to synovial fluid in the rooster's comb - that big red thing on top of the roosters' head. It is extracted from the roosters comb, purified and concentrated.

When it is injected directly into your knee joint, it is like squirting oil on a rusty door hinge.

Hyalgan allows your joints to glide more smoothly eliminating a lot of the rubbing, grinding and pain.

Can Supplements Do The Same Thing?

No. Glucosamine and chondroitin and other supplements are much different. You can only get this from a doctor and it often helps knee pain sufferers who got limited or no success from glucosamine and chondroitin. Beware of unsubstantiated claims made by supplements to do what this advanced medical procedure does.

Why You Should Try This Even If You've Already Had Similar Treatments Without results...

"We have been able to help so many knee pain sufferers - even many who have already tried other injections like Synvisc, Supartz, Orthovisc and even Hyalgan. We use special and very advanced advanced low-dose video flouroscoy imaging called "Hologic Digital Imaging" so we can see right into the joint. This allows us to put the Hyaglan exactly where is needs to be. Studies show doctors doing joint injections without flouroscoy miss the joint up to 30% of the time." said the head of Arthritis Treatment at OsteoRelief Institute.

OsteoRelief Institute is a state of the art medical facility offering only the best technology.

And that's not all - OsteoRelief Institute has a complete knee relief program called "P.A.C.E." to make sure you get the most pain relief and the best possible results from treatment.

"Every case is individual. Some patients get quite a bit of relief right away - others take a little more time. But most have been extremely happy and the results usually last for at least 6 months. Patients who were suffering for years with bad knee pain are getting their lives back... going for walks again and exercising. It's amazing to see. They tell all their friends - that's why we are swarmed. I can't tell you how many patients have cancelled their total knee replacement surgeries." added one of the doctors.

How To Get It

If you have knee pain, the doctors and staff would like to Advanced Medical Technology Can Make All The Difference: This advanced digital imaging called a C-arm allows doctors to see directly into the knee joint so treatments are precise and the Hyalgan actually goes where it is supposed to. Studies show that injections done without digital imaging can miss the joint up to 30% of the time. This is one reason Hyalgan or other Viscosupplementation may not have worked for you. OsteoRelief Institute uses this C-arm for every Hyalgan treatment.

invite you for a risk free screening to see if you are a candidate for Hyalgan treatments and the P.A.C.E program.

All you have to do is call 859-474-2775 right now and when the scheduling specialist answers the phone tell her you would like your risk free "Knee Pain Screening." The specialists at OsteoRelief Institute can only accept a limited amount of new patients each month for this screening - so if you are interested please call now. Your risk free screening will only take about 25-30 minutes... you will get all your questions answered and leave knowing if you have possibly found the solution to your knee pain.

And here's something really important - Hyalgan treatments and the P.A.C.E program are covered by most insurance and Medicare. To schedule your screening today call 859-474-2775.

NORMAL PAIN FREE KNEE JOINT

Everyone Wants Proof: In the artist simulated drawings above, picture #1 is a normal, pain-free knee. There is no arthritis and the knee can move and bend freely without pain.

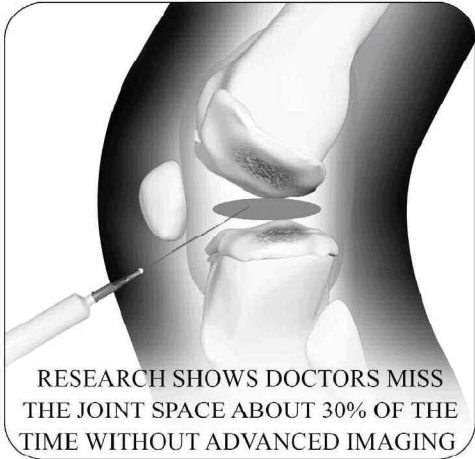

KNEE WITH PAINFUL ARTHRITIS

Pain - above is a knee joint with painful osteo-arthritis. Arthritis causes the joint space to decrease, grinding, stiffness, decreased motion, bone spurs, swelling and a lot of pain.

HYALGAN INJECTED DIRECTLY INTO KNEE JOINT LIKE "JOINT OIL"

Successful Treatment - Hyalgan (blue) being precisely injected directly into the knee joint using Hologic digital imaging. Advanced imaging allows treatments to be as precise as possible. Hyalgan can lubricate the joint and decrease pain.

RESEARCH SHOWS DOCTORS MISS THE JOINT SPACE ABOUT 30% OF THE TIME WITHOUT ADVANCED IMAGING

Failed Treatment - the injection (and Hyalgan) misses the joint space. Research shows this occurs up to 30% of the time without the use of Hologic digital imaging to guide the injection. This is why Hyalgan may not have worked for you.

Gas tank explosion causes fire in Stanford garage

By Victoria Aldrich
valdrich@schurz.com

STANFORD — A few facial blisters, singed hair and a melted windshield are a small price to pay for surviving an explosion as Randy Wilcher learned the night of March 19.

Wilcher, 40, was working on his motorcycle in his garage at 47 Gentry Drive when he lit a kerosene space heater. When he took the gas tank off the bike, the explosion occurred, according to Lincoln County Fire Chief Danny Glass.

The fire quickly engulfed the garage and spread to the attic but didn't burn the inside of the house, Glass said. "It also damaged the side of the house next door, but we were told that no one lives there," Glass said. The house sustained smoke and water damage, Glass added.

Wilcher and his wife, Felicia, share the home with their teen daughters, Sydney Anderson and Tara Wilcher, who was in her room behind the garage when the fire broke out. Randy Wilcher first tried to open the inside garage door, which wouldn't budge.

"She likes to keep her headphones on, and she couldn't hear me when I pounded on the door," Wilcher said. "I went outside to try to kick the door in and that didn't work, but she heard the commotion and came outside."

The home's fire alarm system still buzzed the day after the fire, as Wilcher surveyed the damage. The home had not been inspected by investigators or insurance inspectors yet. "I guess we'll have to come back later and get what we can," he said.

The fire also melted the headlights, front bumper and windshield of his truck, which was parked outside.

Glass said county and Stanford firefighters fought the blaze, using five water

"It went up quick with the gas," Glass said. "The wind didn't help matters either."

The annual Lincoln County singing competition known as "Stanford Star Search" completed its third week last Thursday.

The event is modeled after TV shows such as American Idol, but adds a local twist, with judges and emcees from the Lincoln community.

Snow contributes to injury wreck in Highland area

HIGHLAND — Temperatures Tuesday were too high for snow to stick, but that didn't stop heavy flurries from causing poor visibility on Lincoln County roadways, contributing to at least one injury accident.

Lincoln County Deputy Sim Thacker said two people — Michelle Knouse, 37, and a juvenile — were injured Tuesday afternoon when the Pontiac Vibe driven by Knouse was rear-ended by a 39-year-old Alan Turpin.

Knouse was northbound and stopped along U.S. 27 at an intersection with Ky.

Turpin, also northbound, came up on Knouse's vehicle, but "due to limited visibility from the snow" he didn't see the vehicle in time to stop, Thacker said.

Following the collision, Knouse and the juvenile were taken to Fort Logan Hospital with "minor, non-life-threatening injuries," Thacker said.

Turpin did not need medical attention.

Traffic backed up for miles on either side of the wreck while authorities cleared the scene.

Upchurch named MSC Champion of Character

The University of the Cumberlands (UC) Women’s Basketball team is proud to announce that senior Jessica Upchurch of Stanford has been named the Mid-South Conference Women’s Basketball Champion of Character.

The award is voted on by the conference’s athletic directors and is chosen based on their academic and athletic achievement, campus and community leadership, future ambition and demonstration of the five core character values of the NAIA.

Upchurch has been a regular face in the UC starting lineup over the past four seasons. An academic all-conference member from 2012-2014 as well as an NAIA Scholar Athlete this year, Upchurch has also been a part of a Mid-South Conference Championship in 2012.

In addition to her accomplishments in the classroom and on the court, Upchurch has volunteered at the Stanford Baptist Church, her hometown church, visited nursing homes and local elementary schools in Williamsburg, and taken mission trips to Peru and Jamaica. She is scheduled to visit Africa this summer.

“Throughout my college experience, I have learned so much about myself and what I want to achieve in my life,” Upchurch said. “I stay true to myself by being respectful to others, no matter what the situation may be. I find an importance in representing my family, my school, and myself by respecting every person, every athlete, every official or every coach. Even more, I have developed a passion for helping people and giving people the best thing you could give them: love.”

Lakers sink Bat Pats 7-1

By Nancy Leedy
STANFORD — The Lincoln County baseball team managed only four hits and failed to make routine plays in a 7-1 loss to visiting Russell County Friday.

Perhaps it was the colder temperatures or the inexperience of the Lincoln team, but the Patriots just couldn’t produce offensively or defensively.

“I don’t know if it’s the weather, where we haven’t been outside very much, or where we’re more inexperienced than a lot of teams, but we’re just not making routine plays, that stuff that should be second nature to them,” Lincoln coach Daryl Day said. “We’re not getting the ball in play and when you can’t get runners on base, you can’t score. And we’re not making the routine throws. I really wish I could explain it.”

Lincoln (0-2) was on the scoreboard early, with Aaron Estes driving in Josh Wilson in the first inning to go up 1-0.

Lincoln Co. boys, girls split with Mercer Co.; beat McCreary Central

By Nancy Leedy
STANFORD — The Lincoln County boys tennis team has enjoyed its share of victories against 12th Region rival Casey County over the years, but a team victory was not among them.

Until now. The Patriot netters finally captured that elusive team victory by edging the Rebels 5-4. “First time in school history, or at least that I can remember, boys tennis beats Casey County!!!” Lincoln County coach Allen Lewis proclaimed proudly. “Casey is very young this year, but my guys are thrilled to finally get a win against them.”

Lincoln came close to sweeping the singles competition, with Colin Hart, Ethan Smith, Ethan Lasure and Connor Playforth picking up wins at the first through fourth seeds.

Hart got the Patriots started with an 8-0 victory over Casey’s Trent Rodgers at the one seed. And it was a complete shutout, with Hart winning every point in the match. “(He) did not lose a point in his singles match. I have never seen that before!” stated Lewis.

Smith faced a stronger challenge from Justin Underwood in the second-seeded match but he still came out on top 8-6. At three, Lasure won easily over Caleb Sheene, 6-1, and Playforth claimed the “W” at four with a 6-3 win over Luke Coffman.

Casey didn’t allow Lincoln the cakewalk victory, though, getting the upper hand on the Patriots in doubles action.

Hart and Smith were victorious in their match with Rodgers and Ponder, taking the top seed win 8-0 to assure Lincoln of the team win. But the Patriots would fall at the two and three seed. Lasure and Playforth fell 3-8 to Underwood and Johnson at two and Levi Humes and

Lady Patriot softball team pounds Burgin 16-1

By Nancy Leedy
STANFORD — The Lincoln County Lady Patriots connected for nine hits, including five extra-innings at the Veterans Park softball diamond.

Lincoln (1-1) came to the plate 25 times, scoring multiple runs in each inning to

“I thought offensively we played really, really well. Even the outs we made were hard outs,” Lincoln coach Kevin Bandura said. “We at bad pitches and get ourselves out. It was a great day at the plate.”

Lincoln wasted little time taking control of the game, the Lady Bulldogs in its first at-bat. The Lady Patriots’ explosive first inning came as a big relief to their coach.

“It worried me coming in that we might be a little impatient at the plate, but this was the second consecutive game that we’ve had good at-bats and we have really swung the bats well,” Bandura said. “I’m proud of that because this is a different Burgin team, and I told them coming in that it makes me nervous a little bit because they’ve got a new coach, they’ve got a new attitude, they’re 2-1 coming in and this is not the Burgin that’s going to come in and lay down. They’ve got some hitters in their lineup that can hurt you and I thought we avoided that today.”

Hannah Brown and Kristin Meece, who had two hits and three RBIs apiece, were the first of four Lincoln players to bat twice in the extended first inning. Jaylan Sowders, Chelsey Marcum and winning pitcher Alyssa Meece also batted twice in the inning. Seven Lady Patriots scored in the inning, with Brown and Kristin Meece both scoring twice

High school baseball: Lincoln falls 12-1 to Mercer in season opener

By Mike Marsee
marsee@schurz.com
STANFORD — They are two teams trying to get moving in the right direction in the early stages of the season, but one of them is clearly a little farther ahead of the other.

Both Mercer County and Lincoln County have much to work on over the two months of the regular season, as each team has players in new positions and players who are new to the lineup.

But Mercer starts from a stronger position, as evidenced by its 12-1 victory over Lincoln on Thursday.

The three-time defending 12th Region champion has no shortage of experience, though very little of the Titans' lineup remains intact from last season. Lincoln is a much younger team, and the Patriots have a new coach as well.

The two teams played a close game through four innings Thursday before Mercer pulled away with nine runs in its last three at-bats.

The Titans (2-0) cranked out 13 hits, including at least one in all seven innings. Russell Sims and Curry Brown, two of eight seniors in the Titans' lineup, had three hits each, and both reached base four times.

Lincoln simply couldn't match Mercer's offense. The Patriots (0-1) had seven hits in their season opener, but only two runners made it past second base.

The Patriots also made three errors, making things worse on starting pitcher Logan Young, who allowed 10 hits but only three earned runs in five innings in his first varsity start.

"Logan threw it well. If we play defense behind him, it's a much different game," Lincoln coach Daryl Day said. "We've got a lot of youth and a lot of inexperience at a lot of positions. It's just growing pains. We'll get there, and if he keeps throwing like that, I think we'll get there at the end of the year. It's a matter of keeping their heads up between now and then to make them understand that we're going to get there."

Day, an assistant at Lincoln for the last four years under two coaches, takes over as head coach of a young team. The Pats have lost five seniors in each of the last two seasons, virtually all of whom started for two or three seasons.

"We lost a lot of experience over the last two years and you just have to have time to kind of build that experience back so they can play in a game like this," Day said. "Mercer County's got a nice team. They're 3-time regional champ for a reason, because it seems like they're just reloading."

Mercer's offense provided plenty of support for junior pitcher Andrew Yates, who allowed one run on six hits and struck out five batters in 5-1/3 innings.

"It was a heck of an outing by Andrew. We've had two good outings by our pitchers with J.T. (Long in a win over Anderson County) and Andrew in this game," Mercer coach Jeremy Shope said. "We're expecting big things out of him. He's a great kid."

The Titans scored single runs in the second, third and fourth innings, and the Patriots scored their only run in the bottom of the fourth on a two-out single by Austin Greer.

Mercer got two runs in the fifth to go up 5-1, then added three in the sixth and four in the seventh.

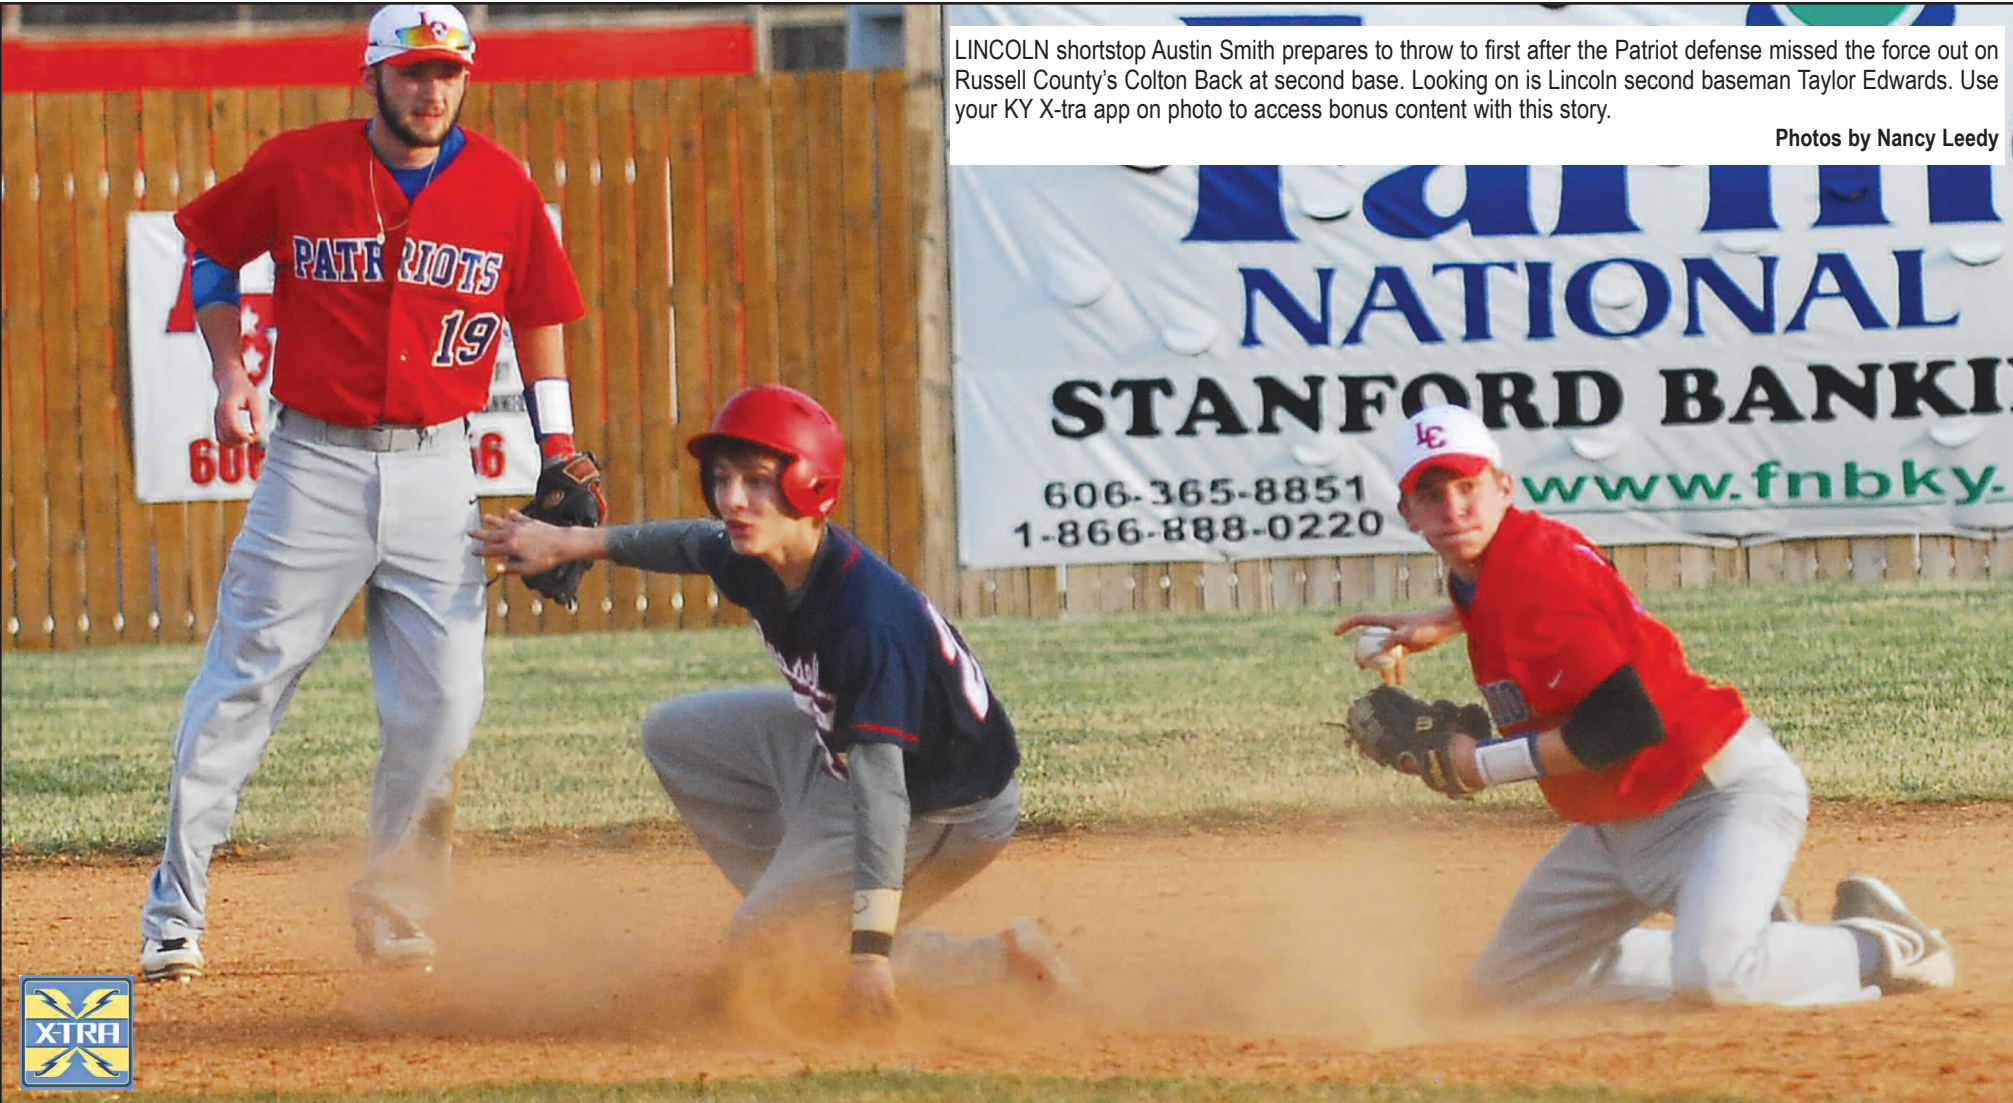

Logan Horn had two hits, including a two-run double, and Mason Thompson drove in two runs for the Titans.

Josh Wilson had two hits for Lincoln.

LINCOLN LOSS

But the Patriots failed to pressure Russell starter Alex Turner and reliever Grant Best, going down in order in the third, fourth and fifth innings and advancing only four runners to second base in the other innings.

Estes got to second in the first before being stranded. Tyler Poynter met the same fate in the second inning. Wilson was left on in the sixth and Boone Baird was left on in the seventh.

"We hit the ball good in the first inning. We hit the ball good with two outs in the seventh inning. The problem is the middle. We're not getting the ball in play like we should," said Day.

Russell (1-0) got the ball in play several times in the top of the third inning, setting the Lakers up for all the scoring they would need for the win.

Lucas Bault earned a walk off Wilson to start the first inning then, with one out, Colton Back reached on a throwing error and Best connected for a single to short to load the bases. Brennan Coffey followed with an RBI-single to right field to score Bault. Russell had the bases loaded again after Wilson hit Brett Kimbler, but Wilson got out of the inning with a line out and an infield fly.

Russell, which got nine hits off Wilson and reliever Chance Madden, brought a minimum of five batters to the plate the third through the seventh innings, tacking on insurance runs in the fourth, sixth and seventh.

Bobby Williams scored on a wild pitch in the fourth inning to make it a 3-1 game. Then, in the sixth with two outs, Best, who reached by being hit by a pitch then moved to second on a throwing error, was driven in by Kimbler. The single by Kimbler loaded up the bases then Madden hit Taylor Grider with a pitch to plate Kimbler and make it 5-1. Ben Bertram and Back both bunted to reach in the seventh then scored the final two runs.

Lincoln had a total of four errors in the loss.

"With the errors, we're making our pitchers throw extra pitches and we're giving the other team more chances to see those pitches," Day said. "We've gone two games now and we've got pitchers throwing 100 pitches in five innings and both should have been about 80 pitches in five innings. So it's the routine stuff. It's not that we're not making great plays, we're not making routine plays, the simple stuff that we have to be able to execute to win."

Between the Russell County game and the previous loss to Mercer County, Lincoln has given up 19 runs to its opponents. However, Day says that doesn't mean Lincoln isn't a good baseball team, just that it's opening dates were against strong competition.

"We're not 19 runs worse than Russell County and Mercer County. We've just faced two really good teams to start the year," he said. "No offense to anybody else we're going to face, but these have been two really good teams. Mercer County was state runner-up last year and Russell County is always the top team in their district and one of the top teams in their region. Russell's not seven or eight runs better than us and Mercer's not 12 or 13 runs better — once we start hitting."

Wilson allowed three runs off four hits with four walks in his five innings on the mound for Lincoln. He had three strikeouts and hit one batter. Madden pitched the final two innings giving up four runs off five hits. He had two strikeouts and hit three batters.

“I told them we had to jump on them early and our girls responded,” Bandura said. “We got a quick inning in the top, came in the bottom half and hung up nine runs, and that really was the difference.”

Burgin (2-2) had its chances to score in the top of the first, with Adams at first base and Kaitlyn Hawkins on second with two outs. But Lincoln reliever Alyssa Meece got out of the jam with a ground out.

Meece, who had replaced starter McKenzie Hensley, gave up a 2-out single to Olivia May in the top of the second inning but no more, ending the inning with a ground out.

“Defensively there are a couple plays we need to make that could hurt us in a close game, but I thought McKenzie came in and did a great job pitching. She had her drop-ball working really well today. That’s something that we’re working on going forward. And Alyssa did a nice job opening up the game for us and getting us out of that first inning,” Bandura said. “She came in in kind of a tight strike zone and she was able to get some outs on their good hitters.”

Lincoln wouldn’t repeat its nine-run effort in its second at-bat, but did tack on five more runs. Sparkman, who also had two hits for the Lady Patriots, drove in Dyehouse with a one-out double, Sparkman and Taylor both scored on a Kelsey Meece single, Meece came on home on a Brown triple then Brown scored on a Kristin Meece single to make it 14-0.

Burgin finally broke on the scoreboard in the top of the third inning when Adams tagged a one-out single to centerfield to score Grace Osbourn. The Lady Bulldogs had runners on first and second, Adams and Hawkins, when Haley Lafoon came to bat. Hawkins went down on a force out, though, when Lafoon hit a ground ball to first base then Meece ended the inning when she got Audrey Frederick to pop out.

With game’s called on the 15-run, 3-inning mercy rule, Lincoln needed just two runs to end the game early – and three batters was all it took to invoke the mercy rule.

Dyehouse led off the bottom of the third with a double to left centerfield, Sparkman followed with her own RBI-double then she scored on a sacrifice out by Taylor to end the game.

“The patience at the plate and the good at-bats that we had today really helped us out,” Bandura said. “We scored 16 runs. We did get some walks, but we took advantage of them and we ran the bases well.”

Lincoln girls drop opener 13-3

The Lincoln County softball team had the bats cracking in its season opener, tagging nine hits at Southwestern, but the Lady Warriors battled better.

Southwestern (2-0) pounded out 12 hits to go along with nine walks and two hit batters to beat visiting Lincoln 13-3.

“I was pleased with our at-bats tonight, but we gave up too many walks to beat a good team who hit really well also,” Lincoln coach Kevin Bandura said. “I thought we played decent defense but needed to get a few clutch hits in order to get back in the game. Give them credit. They hit it well and deserved the win.”

Jaylan Sowders and Chelsea Marcum each had two hits for Lincoln (0-1) while Hannah Brown, Kristin Meece, Alyssa Meece, Chyna Dyehouse, and Jenna King had one hit apiece. Alyssa Meece had an RBI-double and Dyehouse and King each drove in a run.

FARM FACTS

By Dan Grigson
Lincoln County Extension Office

Hay and pasture notes

I know you are going full speed ahead with your farming chores, sometimes we get so busy we forget to take care of some things. For that reason, I am going to just touch on some reminders for you to keep in your memory bank as you take to the fields in high gear.

Sowing Clover – you still have time to make seedings of clover, but it's too late for top-dress seeding. For renovation, this late you need to disk up 60 percent of the grass, then broadcast the seed and cultipack or drag the field down. The other option is to spray the grass down with a herbicide and no-till seed the clover.

Pasture Fertilization – I encourage you to do a soil test, but here is a rule of thumb since pasture fertilization needs to be done today to get the most benefit. You may want to put on 100 lbs. of urea, 100 lbs. of 60 percent potash, and 75 lbs. of DAP per acre on your grass to push out higher yields.

This will pay off big time in better grazing. You can run more cattle or bale more hay. If your pasture is a grass and clover pasture, then use 100 pounds of DAP and 100 pounds of 60 percent potash per acre.

Hay Field Fertilization – It would be best to apply fertilizer by a soil test but without one, I would suggest the following: alfalfa 125 lbs. of DAP per acre and 250 lbs. of muriate of potash per acre and boron; Clover/grass 100 lbs. of DAP and 150 lbs. of muriate of potash per acre; Grass only 100 lbs of urea, 100 lbs. of 60 percent potash, and 100 lbs. of DAP per acre. When should you apply this fertilizer? The real answer is February, but today's answer is "today". Get it on quickly so it will have time to increase your hay yields.

KEEP CATTLE OFF PASTURE A FEW MORE DAYS

Cattle love that new grass growth and they can't wait to get out there and graze. But, producers you need to be patient and keep those cattle contained on sacrifice fields a little longer. We are a few more weeks away from when cattle should be turned out to pasture. The tendency in early spring is to let the cows go out and starting picking and then the cows will nibble the grass into the ground. That reduces pasture productivity the rest of the year and thins down your stand. It is always best to wait in the spring until the grass in your pasture has an average height of six inches before beginning to graze. It should be "shoe top" high before grazing. Graze down to ankle high, then rotate to the next field. Be patient, give the grass a chance to get the right start and be productive all season.

PASTURE WEED CONTROL

Thistles, buttercup, chickweed, purpose dead-nettle, poison hemlock and dandelions are all growing in pasture fields now. March and early April is the easiest time to kill them. Spray rigs are now available for rent to help you easily spray your pastures. Southern States Stanford has a sprayer for rent. The Farm Bureau Equipment Rental Program has a sprayer for rent and it is available through Buddy Pence, one of the rental agents Lincoln County Farm Bureau Federation. These sprayers have no booms but rather a broadcast nozzle head on the back that sprays 25'-30' of pasture in a pass.

2-4D and Crossbow are good and economical products to use to kill these weeds. They will kill a lot of your red clover and some of the white clover, but in some fields the weeds are so thick, it is time to sacrifice some clover to get the weeds under control.

If you have more questions and need more details, just give us a call at the U.K. Extension Office, 365-2447.

USDA encourages early registration for FSA

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) Administrator Juan M. Garcia today recommended that farmers and ranchers who plan to participate in FSA programs register in advance. Producers are encouraged to report farm records and business structure changes to a local FSA Service Center before April 15.

Enrollment for the disaster programs authorized by the 2014 Farm Bill, including the Livestock Indemnity Program (LIP) and the Livestock Forage Disaster Program (LFP) will begin by April 15, 2014.

"We expect significant interest in these programs," said Garcia. "Early registration should help improve the sign-up process and allow us to expedite implementation of the programs. I strongly encourage producers to complete their paperwork ahead of time."

Examples of updates or changes to report include:

- New producers or producers who have not reported farm records to FSA.

- Producers who have recently bought, sold or rented land. Those producers need to ensure that changes have been reported and properly recorded by local FSA county office personnel. Reports of purchased or sold property should include a copy of the land deed, and if land has been leased, then documentation should be provided that indicates the producer had/has control of the acreage.

- Producers that have changed business structures (e.g. formed a partnership or LLC) need to ensure that these relationships and shares are properly recorded with FSA. Even family farms that have records on file may want to ensure that this is recorded accurately as it may impact payment limits.

Farm records can be updated during business hours at FSA Service Centers that administer the county where the farm or ranch is located. Producers can contact their local FSA Service Center in advance to find out what paperwork they may need. In addition, bank account information should be supplied or updated if necessary to ensure that producers receive payments as quickly as possible through direct deposit.

While any producer may report farm records and business structure changes, it is especially important for producers who suffered livestock, livestock grazing, honeybee, farm-raised fish, or tree/vine losses for 2011, 2012, 2013 or 2014, and may be eligible for assistance through one of the four disaster programs.

For further information about our disaster programs and USDA's Farm Bill implementation plan, visit FSA's 2014 Farm Bill Web page. FSA Service Center locations can be found on the FSA website.

Flappy Bird and Candy Crush. Pinterest has taken over the world! I feel that whenever people eat out, shop, and spend time with friends and family all they want to do is keep their nose stuck to their phone screen. Conversations are minimal. I believe that many people would rather text, call, face time, or email their friends and family than talk with them in person. Cell phone companies are creating phones that are easy for people to learn how to use, so more and more people are buying them. I would like to see people put down their cell phones or other devices and socialize in person with friends and family. Actually listen to what they have to say instead of obsessing over your phone. In the words of Emily Holtzclaw, make your relationships a "no phone zone!"

Top Trends of 2013

By: Emily Holtzclaw

A lot of trends pop up in a year, but here are just a few of the trends that were super popular with the teens and pre-teens of 2013!

1.) Chevron- a V shaped pattern found on girls tops, purses, scarf's, dresses, etc.
2.) Selfie- a self portrait that is most often taken with a handheld cell phone and sometimes a digital camera. Selfies can be seen all over social media websites!
3.) The Fox (What Does the Fox Say?)- this is a song by two brothers from Norway. They call themselves Ylvis. This song is super silly but also super catchy. Look up the music video on YouTube but be warned; the lyrics will forever be stuck in your head!

4.) Candy Crush- this is a game that you can download on your iPhone, iPad, iPod touch or Android devices. Different candies are lined up in rows and columns. To gain points, you have to switch the candy around to get a combination of three or more of the same type! Super fun and super addicting!
5.) Harlem Shake- this is a video made in which a group of people perform a comedy sketch while the "Harlem Shake" song is played in the background. Many different groups made their own version and this led to thousands of "Harlem Shake" videos being uploaded to YouTube every day.

6.) Duck Dynasty- an American reality television series on A&E. This series is about the Robertson family from West Monroe, Louisiana. They became wealthy off of their family operated business Duck Commander where they make products for duck hunters.

The Final Edition

By: Tera Padgett

I am very sad to say that this is the last issue of the Eagle Eye News, though I do wish that we could write and cover more stories about the Middle School and Lincoln County. Even though it is ending we have had so much fun writing stories and hosting polls for students to vote in just so we could hear their voiced opinion. The newspaper staff wants to thank all of those that helped us get the paper started and all the people of Lincoln County that bought and read our editions. So from Tera Padgett, Trenton Brown, and Emily Holtzclaw we would like to give a special thanks to Kylie Reed, Colleen Benson and Tammy Dowell and also the Interior Journal Newspaper for making it happen! This is Tera Padgett signing off for good.

A Weekend in Chicago

By: Trenton Brown

The Lincoln County Middle School will be taking an educational trip to Chicago this weekend. The dates are March 28-30. The students will be excused from school on Friday and will return late on Sunday. They will be taking Bluegrass Tours buses and be traveling with the Martin Tour Company. Students who plan on attending should have already paid their $525. This price covers all expenses except for any spending money the students want to bring. This trip features many educational and interesting tourist attractions! The students will be visiting the Willis Tower (commonly referred to as the Sears Tower). This is a 110 story building in the heart of downtown Chicago. It is one of the tallest buildings in the world, and the tallest building in America. The students will also visit Millennium Park. It was opened in July 2004 and covers 24.5 acres! It is open year round and has many interesting features such as an ice skating rink, a 2.5 acre garden, a 50 foot tall fountain, and an indoor heated and air conditioned bike center for cyclists, runners, and inline skaters. The students will also tour Wrigley Field, the home ballpark of the Chicago Cubs since 1916. Other attractions on the agenda include a visit to the Museum of Science and Industry where the students will get to go inside a real submarine! There will also be a Chicago River Architectural Tour of the city by boat. The students will also get to enjoy a Spirit Dinner and Dance Cruise on Saturday night. It sounds like the students are in for a very fun and interesting trip! I hope they have great weather and a great time!
